

Staffing Numbers University Core A 102, 201, and 202 2010-2011 Academic Year

This document seeks to clarify information distributed at the last Senate meeting and reports data collected by the FSCC with regards to UNIV CORE 102, 201 and 202. We have excluded from this reference sheet data collected regarding Core 101 because, as provided for in the University Core A Proposal, Core 101 continues to be staffed in the same manner as ENGL 101.

The University Core A Proposal states:

FACULTY RESOURCES – CORE 101 will be taught by English Faculty. CORE 102, CORE 201 and CORE 202 can be taught by any faculty member as long as s/he completes the Core Retreat, a series of faculty development workshops delivered by the Core Coordinators. The primary aim of these workshops will be to help instructors to understand and teach the shared material of the Core A courses.

Here's what we've discovered so far in terms of sections taught by our different faculty constituencies:

Core	Tenured	Tenure-Track	Non Tenure Track	Adjunct	AP Faculty	Classified	GTF	Total
102	9	4	5	31			20	69
201	6	6	17	33	8	2		72
202	7	4	7	25	3	2		48
TOTAL	22	14	29	89	11	4	20	189

Quick Numbers:

- In Fall 2010, 9 adjunct faculty and 2 staff members taught UNIV Core 200 level courses.
- Currently, Spring 2011, 15 adjunct faculty and 3 staff members are teaching UNIV Core-200 level courses.
- According to the online registration system, during the AY 2010-2011, 33 Full-Time faculty (including Tenured, Tenure Track and Non-Tenured) taught in the UNIV Core A sequence (Core 102- Core 202).
- There are currently 5 “Core adjuncts” who teach only Core 201 and 202: 4 of these individuals are housed in the English department’s adjunct database, and 1 is claimed by STEL.
- Core 102: 47% (33 sections out of a total of 69) of Core 102 sections were taught or supervised by Full-Time Tenured or Tenure Track faculty during AY 2010-2011. This number is consistent with the numbers reported for AY 2009-2010 and with the numbers reported for ENGL 102.
- Core 201: 16.6% (12 sections out of a total of 72) of Core 201 sections were taught by Full-Time Tenured or Tenure Track Faculty during AY 2010-2011.
- Core 202: 22% (11 of 48 sections) of Core 202 sections were taught by Full-Time Tenured or Tenure Track Faculty during AY 2010-2011.
